

ENGLISH FOR PROJECT MANGEMENT OR HOW TO BECOME FLUENT AND ACCURATE IN THIS FIELD

Diana TŪTUIANU

Lecturer, PhD, “Carol Ist” National Defense University, Faculty of Staff and Command, Foreign Language Department
diana.tutuianu@yahoo.com

Abstract: The field of Project Management has become increasingly important lately. Nowadays there are different types of educational programs which promise providing the necessary knowledge to those interested in joining the large world of business. If you want to be a certified project manager, you must learn English. If you want to sell your products internationally, you should learn English. If you want to buy products from a foreign country, you should learn English. Without being disrespectful towards other foreign languages, we must admit that English is the most important business language in the world. The present paper deals with the necessity of learning English as an essential tool for functioning properly in Project Management. It is actually meant to present a specialized English course book illustrated with a few examples of activities.

Keywords: project management, English, course-book, communication